

IRA Disclosure Supplement

This IRA Disclosure Supplement is being provided to notify you of recent changes made by the CARES Act, SECURE Act and other IRS pronouncements that are not yet reflected in your IRA Plan Agreement and Disclosure Statement. This IRA Disclosure Supplement is intended to provide you with a general, high-level overview of the IRA changes included in the CARES Act, the SECURE Act of 2019 and other IRS pronouncements. Given the complexity of some of these changes and the near-term lack of federal guidance, we encourage you seek the assistance of a competent tax and/or legal professional if you have questions or concerns about how you may be affected by the CARES Act, the SECURE Act and other IRS pronouncements.

CARES Act and Other Coronavirus-Related Pronouncements

On March 27, 2020, President Trump signed into law the Coronavirus Aid, Relief and Economic Security Act (CARES Act). The CARES Act is a massive federal stimulus package designed by Congress to provide aid and assistance to individuals and businesses as the country deals with the coronavirus pandemic. Included in the CARES Act are several provisions that directly impact many IRA owners and IRA beneficiaries. Most of the IRA provisions contained within the CARES Act are effective immediately. In addition to the CARES Act, the Secretary of the Treasury has also recently made changes due to the coronavirus pandemic that directly impact many IRA owners and IRA beneficiaries.

Temporary Waiver of Required Minimum Distributions (RMDs) for IRA Owners and Beneficiaries

The CARES Act provides relief from the RMD rules applicable to distributions required to be withdrawn in 2020 by IRA owners and IRA beneficiaries.

IRA Owners Born Before July 1, 1948

For Traditional, SEP and SIMPLE IRA owners born before July 1, 1948, the CARES Act waives the mandatory distribution requirement (i.e., RMDs) for 2020. IRA owners still have the option of taking distributions at their discretion but are not required to do so.

IRA Owners Born July 1, 1948 - June 30, 1949

Traditional, SEP and SIMPLE IRA owners who reached age 70½ during 2019 (i.e., have a date of birth of July 1, 1948 through June 30, 1949), were required to take their first RMD by no later than April 1, 2020 (i.e., their “required beginning date”). For such IRA owners, the CARES Act waives the RMD for 2019, if the distribution was not already withdrawn during 2019, in addition to waiving the mandatory distribution requirement (i.e., RMD) for 2020. While these RMDs are not required, IRA owners still have the option of taking distributions at their discretion.

IRA Beneficiaries

The CARES Act waives the mandatory distribution requirement for 2020 for IRA beneficiaries who were required to withdraw Life Expectancy Payments in 2020. Also, the RMDs of a deceased IRA owner that beneficiaries may have otherwise been required to withdraw in the year of the IRA owner’s death are also waived. While the CARES Act waives these RMDs, beneficiaries still have the option of taking distributions at their discretion but are not required to do so.

The CARES Act has also provided relief for IRA beneficiaries who have elected or defaulted to the Five-Year Rule distribution option. Under the CARES Act, 2020 is not to be counted in the 5-year period that determines the deadline for an IRA beneficiary to deplete an Inherited IRA under the Five-Year Rule. As such those beneficiaries effectively have a 6-year period rather than a 5-year period to deplete the Inherited IRA.

Coronavirus-Related Distributions

“Qualified Individuals” are eligible take a “Coronavirus-Related Distribution” from their IRAs that are eligible for flexible taxation and repayment options not generally available for IRA distributions. Coronavirus-Related Distributions must be withdrawn on or after January 1, 2020 and before December 31, 2020 and may not exceed $100,000 (in aggregate) per individual. Adjustments to this distribution timeframe and the maximum amount may be authorized by the federal government. For assistance in determining whether you are eligible for a Coronavirus-Related Distribution, consult your tax advisor.

Qualified Individuals

Qualified Individuals include individuals

- 1) who are diagnosed with the virus SARS-CoV-2 or with the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) by a test approved by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention,
- 2) whose spouse or dependent is diagnosed with the virus SARS-CoV-2 or with the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) by a test approved by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention,
- 3) who experience adverse financial consequences as a result of being quarantined, being furloughed or laid off or having work hours reduced due to such virus or disease, being unable to work due to lack of child care due to such virus or disease, closing or reducing hours of a business owned or operated by the individual due to such virus or disease, or other factors as determined by the Secretary of the Treasury.

Taxation and Penalty Implications

While Coronavirus-Related Distributions must generally be included in taxable income, the CARES Act includes a special provision allowing taxpayers to include the taxable portion of any Coronavirus-Related Distribution in their taxable income ratably over a three-year period, unless an election is made by the taxpayer to include the entire taxable amount in income for tax year 2020. Coronavirus-Related Distributions are exempt from the 10% early distribution penalty that typically applies when IRA owners are under the age of 59½ and take a distribution. The early distribution penalty that is increased to 25% for certain SIMPLE IRA distributions is also not applicable to Coronavirus-Related Distributions.

Repayment of Coronavirus-Related Distributions

Under the CARES Act individuals are eligible to repay all or a portion of a Coronavirus-Related Distribution in one or more contributions, at any time during the three-year period beginning on the day after the distribution is received. The portion of any Coronavirus-Related Distribution that is repaid within the three-year timeframe is treated as not included in taxable income. For further information on the tax implications of Coronavirus-Related Distributions repayments, consult your tax advisor.

IRA Contribution Deadline

The deadline for tax year 2019 Traditional IRA and Roth IRA contributions has been extended from April 15, 2020, to July 15, 2020.

SECURE Act of 2019

On December 20, 2019, President Trump signed into law the Setting Every Community Up for Retirement Enhancement (SECURE) Act of 2019. Many of the provisions contained within the SECURE Act are effective January 1, 2020. Due to the extremely short timeframe between the bill’s passage and the January 1, 2020 effective date for some of the bill’s key IRA provisions, financial service providers are having to proceed in good faith with minimal guidance from federal regulators. It is anticipated that federal regulators will publish guidance soon concerning the changes brought about by the SECURE Act of 2019.

Required Minimum Distributions Beginning at Age 72

The SECURE Act of 2019 changes the age at which Traditional, SEP and SIMPLE IRA owners must begin taking required minimum distributions (RMDs).

Individuals Born After June 30, 1949

Under the SECURE Act of 2019, individuals born after June 30, 1949, must begin taking required minimum distributions at age 72. For these individuals, the deadline for taking the first required distribution is April 1 of the year following the year in which they turn age 72.

Individuals Born Before July 1, 1949

Individuals born before July 1, 1949, must begin required minimum distributions by no later than April 1 following the year in which they attain age 70½. Accordingly, Traditional, SEP and SIMPLE IRA owners who attained age 70½ during 2019 must take their first required minimum distribution by no later than April 1, 2020.

Traditional IRA Funding—Age 70½ Restriction

The SECURE Act of 2019 eliminates the 70½ age restriction for funding a Traditional IRA.

2020 Tax Year and Beyond

Under the SECURE Act of 2019, the age restriction on funding a Traditional IRA has been eliminated beginning with the 2020 tax year. For 2020 and later years, individuals who have earned income from working may continue to fund their IRA beyond age 70½.

Not Applicable for 2019 Carryback Contributions

While this change takes effect on January 1, 2020, the new rule DOES NOT apply to carryback contributions made for the 2019 tax year (i.e., individuals who are age 70½ or older during 2019 cannot make a Traditional IRA contribution for the 2019 tax year).

Penalty-Free IRA Withdrawals for Certain Births/Adoptions

While taxable IRA withdrawals taken prior to age 59½ are typically subject to the IRS early withdrawal penalty, certain exceptions exist. Beginning January 1, 2020, a new penalty exception allows certain qualifying individuals to withdraw up to $5,000 from an IRA (or other tax-qualified savings plan) before age 59½ in the case of a qualifying birth or qualifying adoption.

Qualified Birth or Adoption Distribution

To be considered a “Qualified Birth or Adoption Distribution”, the distribution must be taken during the 1-year period beginning on the date on which a child of the individual is born or on which the legal adoption of an eligible adoptee is finalized.

$5000 Limit

The maximum amount any one individual can claim as a Qualified Birth or Adoption Distribution with respect to one child or one eligible adoptee is $5,000, regardless of the number of IRAs and/or employer-sponsored retirement plans he/she owns.

Eligible Adoptee

Under the new penalty exception, the term “Eligible Adoptee” generally means any individual who has not attained age 18 or is physically or mentally incapable of self-support.

Rollover Option

In addition to claiming an exemption from the 10% early withdrawal penalty, individuals who take a Qualified Birth or Adoption Distribution have the option to recontribute (i.e., roll over) the distribution back into an IRA in the future.

Accelerated Withdrawals for IRA Beneficiaries

Effective for deaths occurring on or after January 1, 2020, the SECURE Act of 2019 changes the withdrawal options for many nonspouse IRA beneficiaries. Under the SECURE Act of 2019, nonspouse beneficiaries of IRA owners who pass away on or after January 1, 2020, must generally withdraw all inherited IRA assets by December 31 of the year containing the tenth anniversary of the IRA owner's death.

Exceptions for Spousal Beneficiaries

The options available to spousal IRA beneficiaries are relatively unchanged under the SECURE Act. Spouse beneficiaries will still typically have the options of treating a decedent's IRA as his or her own or of taking life expectancy distributions from the inherited IRA. In addition, spouse beneficiaries will now have the option—at least in some cases—of withdrawing the proceeds from a decedent's IRA over a 10-year period.

Exceptions for Certain Nonspouse Beneficiaries

While nonspouse beneficiaries of IRA owners who pass away on or after January 1, 2020 must generally withdraw all the inherited IRA assets within 10 years, there are exceptions for certain categories of nonspouse beneficiaries:

1. Children

A minor child beneficiary of the IRA owner who has not yet reached the age of majority at the time of the IRA owner's death is generally eligible to take annual minimum distributions based on his/her own single life expectancy until reaching the age of majority. Once the child reaches the age of majority, such beneficiary will typically be required to withdraw the remaining balance of the inherited IRA within 10 years from when the child reaches the age of majority.

2. Disabled Individuals

A nonspouse beneficiary who meets certain statutory requirements to qualify as disabled will generally be eligible to take annual minimum distributions over his/her single life expectancy.

3. Chronically Ill Individuals

A nonspouse beneficiary who meets certain statutory requirements to qualify as chronically ill will generally be eligible to take annual minimum distributions over his/her single life expectancy.

4. Beneficiaries Not More than 10 Years Younger than IRA Owner

A nonspouse beneficiary who is not more than 10 years younger than the IRA owner will generally be eligible to take annual minimum distributions based on his/her single life expectancy.

5-Year Withdrawal Period for Some Non-Person Beneficiaries

While the SECURE Act of 2019 requires that most nonspouse beneficiaries withdraw all assets from an inherited IRA within 10 years of the death of the IRA owner, non-person beneficiaries (i.e., estates, charities, etc.), under certain circumstances, must withdraw IRA assets from a deceased IRA owner's IRA within 5 years following the death of an IRA owner.

Special Rules for Trust Beneficiaries

Under the SECURE Act of 2019, the withdrawal requirements applicable in the case of a trust beneficiary vary widely depending on many factors including, but not limited to, whether all underlying beneficiaries of the trust beneficiary are considered "designated beneficiaries" according to statutory requirements and whether any of the underlying beneficiaries of the trust are considered chronically ill or disabled.

PART IV: BENEFICIARY DESIGNATION

Traditional IRA Owner (or Inherited IRA Owner) designate beneficiaries below. If the primary or contingent status is not indicated, the individual or entity will be considered a primary beneficiary. After your death, the Traditional IRA assets will be distributed in equal shares (unless indicated otherwise) to the primary beneficiaries who survive you. If no primary beneficiaries are living when you die, the Traditional IRA assets will be distributed in equal shares (unless otherwise indicated) to the contingent beneficiaries who survive you. The interest of any beneficiary that predeceases the IRA Owner terminates completely, and the percentage share of any remaining beneficiaries will be increased on a pro rata basis. You may revoke or change the beneficiary designation at any time by completing a new IRA Change of Beneficiary Form and providing it to the Custodian. To name a trust as your beneficiary, attach to this form either a copy of the trust agreement or a certification, in writing, acceptable to the IRA Custodian.

PART XI: ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Note: This application will not be processed unless signed below by the Traditional IRA Owner (or inherited IRA Owner).

By signing this Traditional/SEP IRA Application, I certify that the information I have provided is true, correct, and complete, and the Custodian (UMB Bank, N.A. at 1010 Grand Boulevard, Kansas City, MO, 64141) may rely on what I have provided. In addition, I have read and received copies of the Traditional/SEP IRA Application, IRS Form 5305-A, Disclosure Statement and Financial Disclosure, including the applicable fee schedule. I agree to be bound to their terms and conditions. I understand that I am responsible for the Traditional IRA transactions I conduct, and I will indemnify and hold the Custodian harmless from any consequences related to executing my directions. If I have indicated any amounts as "carryback" contributions, I understand the contributions will be credited for the prior tax year. I understand that if the deposit establishing the Traditional IRA contains rollover dollars, I elect to irrevocably designate this deposit as a rollover contribution. If I am an Inherited IRA Owner, I understand the distribution requirements and the contribution limitations applicable to Inherited IRA Owners. I have been advised to seek competent legal and tax advice and have not been provided any such advice from the Custodian.

Traditional Individual Retirement Custodial Account

(Under section 408(a) of the Internal Revenue Code)

Form 5305-A (Rev. April 2017) Department of the Treasury, Internal Revenue Service. Do not file with the Internal Revenue Service

The Depositor named on the Traditional/SEP IRA Application is establishing a Traditional individual retirement account under section 408(a) to provide for his or her retirement and for the support of his or her beneficiaries after death. The Custodian named on the Traditional/SEP IRA Application has given the Depositor the disclosure statement required by Regulations section 1.408-6. The Depositor has assigned the Custodial IRA the amount indicated on the Traditional/SEP IRA Application. The Depositor and the Custodian make the following Agreement:

ARTICLE I

Except in the case of a rollover contribution described in section 402(c), 403(a)(4), 403(b)(8), 408(d)(3), or 457(e)(16), an employer contribution to a simplified employee pension plan as described in section 408(k), or a recharacterized contribution described in section 408A(d)(6), the Custodian will accept only cash contributions up to $5,500 per year for 2013 through 2017. For individuals who have reached the age of 50 by the end of the year, the contribution limit is increased to $6,500 per year for 2013 through 2017. For years after 2017, these limits will be increased to reflect a cost-of-living adjustment, if any.

ARTICLE II

The Depositor's interest in the balance in the Custodial Account is nonforfeitable.

ARTICLE III

1. No part of the Custodial Account funds may be invested in life insurance contracts, nor may the assets of the Custodial Account be commingled with other property except in a common trust fund or common investment fund (within the meaning of section 408(a)(5)).
2. No part of the Custodial Account funds may be invested in collectibles (within the meaning of section 408(m)) except as otherwise permitted by section 408(m)(3), which provides an exception for certain gold, silver, and platinum coins, coins issued under the laws of any state, and certain bullion.

ARTICLE IV

1. Notwithstanding any provision of this Agreement to the contrary, the distribution of the Depositor's interest in the Custodial Account shall be made in accordance with the following requirements and shall otherwise comply with section 408(a)(6) and the Regulations thereunder, the provisions of which are herein incorporated by reference.
2. The Depositor's entire interest in the Custodial Account must be, or begin to be, distributed not later than the Depositor's required beginning date, April 1 following the calendar year in which the Depositor reaches age 70½. By that date, the Depositor may elect, in a manner acceptable to the Custodian, to have the balance in the Custodial Account distributed in:
 - (a) A single sum or
 - (b) Payments over a period not longer than the life of the Depositor or the joint lives of the Depositor and his or her designated beneficiary.
3. If the Depositor dies before his or her entire interest is distributed to him or her, the remaining interest will be distributed as follows:
 - (a) If the Depositor dies on or after the required beginning date and:
 - (i) The designated beneficiary is the Depositor's surviving spouse, the remaining interest will be distributed over the surviving spouse's life expectancy, as determined each year until such spouse's death, or over the period in paragraph (a)(iii) below if longer. Any interest remaining after the spouse's death will be distributed over such spouse's remaining life expectancy as determined in the year of the spouse's death and reduced by 1 for each subsequent year, or, if distributions are being made over the period in paragraph (a)(iii) below, over such period.
 - (ii) The designated beneficiary is not the Depositor's surviving spouse, the remaining interest will be distributed over the beneficiary's remaining life expectancy as determined in the year following the death of the Depositor and reduced by 1 for each subsequent year, or over the period in paragraph (a)(iii) below if longer.
 - (iii) There is no designated beneficiary, the remaining interest will be distributed over the remaining life expectancy of the Depositor as determined in the year of the Depositor's death and reduced by 1 for each subsequent year.
 - (b) If the Depositor dies before the required beginning date, the remaining interest will be distributed in accordance with paragraph (i) below or, if elected or there is no designated beneficiary, in accordance with paragraph (ii) below.
 - (i) The remaining interest will be distributed in accordance with paragraphs (a)(i) and (a)(ii) above (but not over the period in paragraph (a)(iii), even if longer), starting by the end of the calendar year following the year of the Depositor's death. If, however, the designated beneficiary is the Depositor's surviving spouse, then this distribution is not required to begin before the end of the calendar year in which the Depositor would have reached age 70½. But, in such case, if the Depositor's surviving spouse dies before distributions are required to begin, then the remaining interest will be distributed in accordance with paragraph (a)(ii) above (but not over the period in paragraph (a)(iii), even if longer), over such spouse's designated beneficiary's life expectancy, or in accordance with paragraph (ii) below if there is no such designated beneficiary.
 - (ii) The remaining interest will be distributed by the end of the calendar year containing the fifth anniversary of the Depositor's death.
4. If the Depositor dies before his or her entire interest has been distributed and if the designated beneficiary is not the Depositor's surviving spouse, no additional contributions may be accepted in the account.

5. The minimum amount that must be distributed each year, beginning with the year containing the Depositor's required beginning date, is known as the "required minimum distribution" and is determined as follows:
 - (a) The required minimum distribution under paragraph 2(b) for any year, beginning with the year the Depositor reaches age 70½, is the Depositor's account value at the close of business on December 31 of the preceding year divided by the distribution period in the uniform lifetime table in Regulations section 1.401(a)(9)-9. However, if the Depositor's designated beneficiary is his or her surviving spouse, the required minimum distribution for a year shall not be more than the Depositor's account value at the close of business on December 31 of the preceding year divided by the number in the joint and last survivor table in Regulations section 1.401(a)(9)-9. The required minimum distribution for a year under this paragraph (a) is determined using the Depositor's (or, if applicable, the Depositor and spouse's) attained age (or ages) in the year.
 - (b) The required minimum distribution under paragraphs 3(a) and 3(b)(i) for a year, beginning with the year following the year of the Depositor's death (or the year the Depositor would have reached age 70½, if applicable under paragraph 3(b)(i)) is the account value at the close of business on December 31 of the preceding year divided by the life expectancy (in the single life table in Regulations section 1.401(a)(9)-9) of the individual specified in such paragraphs 3(a) and 3(b)(i).
 - (c) The required minimum distribution for the year the Depositor reaches age 70½ can be made as late as April 1 of the following year. The required minimum distribution for any other year must be made by the end of such year.
6. The owner of two or more Traditional IRAs may satisfy the minimum distribution requirements described above by taking from one Traditional IRA the amount required to satisfy the requirement for another in accordance with the Regulations under section 408(a)(6).

ARTICLE V

1. The Depositor agrees to provide the Custodian with all information necessary to prepare any reports required by section 408(i) and Regulations sections 1.408-5 and 1.408-6.
2. The Custodian agrees to submit to the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) and Depositor the reports prescribed by the IRS.

ARTICLE VI

Notwithstanding any other articles which may be added or incorporated, the provisions of Articles I through III and this sentence will be controlling. Any additional articles inconsistent with section 408(a) and the related Regulations will be invalid.

ARTICLE VII

This Agreement will be amended as necessary to comply with the provisions of the Code and the related Regulations. Other amendments may be made with the consent of the persons whose signatures appear on the Application.

ARTICLE VIII

1. Definitions

Agreement. Agreement means the Traditional IRA Custodial Agreement (IRS Form 5305-A), Application, Disclosure Statement, Financial Disclosure and accompanying documentation. The Agreement may be amended from time to time as provided in Article VII.

Application. Application means the legal document that establishes this Traditional IRA after acceptance by the Custodian by signing the Application. The information and statements contained in the Application are incorporated into this IRA Agreement.

Authorized Agent. Authorized Agent means the individual(s) appointed in writing by the Depositor (or by the beneficiary following the Depositor's death) authorized to perform the duties and responsibilities set forth in the Agreement on behalf of the Depositor.

Code. Code means the Internal Revenue Code.

Custodial Account. Custodial Account means the type of legal arrangement whereby the Custodian is a qualified financial institution that agrees to maintain the Custodial Account for the exclusive benefit of the Depositor and the Depositor's beneficiaries.

Custodian. The Custodian must be a bank or savings and loan association, as defined in section 408(n), or any person who has the approval of the IRS to act as Custodian.

Depositor. The depositor is the person who establishes the Custodial Account. In the case of an Inherited IRA, the Depositor is the original owner of the inherited assets.

Inherited IRA. An IRA established by or maintained for the benefit of a nonspouse beneficiary of a deceased Depositor or a nonspouse beneficiary of a deceased participant in a qualifying retirement plan.

Inherited IRA Owner. Inherited IRA Owner means the individual for whose benefit the account is maintained as a result of acquiring such assets by reason of the death of another individual (other than a spouse).

Regulations. Regulations mean the U.S. Treasury Regulations.

2. Depositor's Responsibilities. All information that the Depositor has provided or will provide to the Custodian under this Agreement is complete and accurate and the Custodian may rely upon it. The Depositor will comply with all legal requirements governing this Agreement and assumes all responsibility for his or her actions including, but not limited to eligibility determination, contributions, distributions, penalty infractions, proper filing of tax returns and other issues related to activities regarding this Agreement. The Depositor will provide to the Custodian the information the Custodian believes appropriate to comply with the requirements of Section 326 of the Uniting and Strengthening America by Providing Appropriate Tools Required to Intercept and Obstruct Terrorism (U.S.A. PATRIOT) Act of 2001. The Depositor will pay the Custodian reasonable compensation for its services, as disclosed in the applicable fee schedules.
3. Investment Responsibilities. All investment decisions are the sole responsibility of the Depositor and the Depositor is responsible to direct the Custodian in writing, or other acceptable form and manner authorized by the Custodian, regarding how all amounts are to be invested. Subject to the policies and practices of the Custodian, the Depositor may delegate investment authority by appointing an Authorized Agent in writing in a form and manner acceptable to the Custodian. Upon receipt of instructions from the Depositor and proof of acceptance by the Authorized Agent, the Custodian will accept investment direction and may fully rely on those instructions as if the Custodian had received the instructions from the Depositor.

The Custodian will determine the investments available within the Custodial Account. All transactions shall be subject to any and all restrictions that are imposed by the Custodian's charter, articles of incorporation, or bylaws; any and all applicable federal and state laws and regulations; the rules, regulations, customs, and usages of any exchange, market, or clearing house where the transaction is executed; the Custodian's policies and practices; and this Agreement.

The Custodian may change its investment options from time to time and the Depositor may move his or her monies in the Custodial Account to different investments. Any investment changes within the Custodial Account are subject to the terms and conditions of the investments, including but not limited to minimum deposit requirements and early redemption penalties. The Custodian will not provide any investment direction, suitability recommendations, tax advice, or any other investment guidance. Further, the Custodian has no duty to question the investment directions provided by the Depositor or any issues relating to the management of the Custodial Account. The Depositor will indemnify and hold the Custodian harmless from and against all costs and expenses (including attorney's fees) incurred by the Custodian in connection with any litigation regarding the investments within the Custodial Account where the Custodian is named as a necessary party.

The Custodian will promptly execute investment instructions received from the Depositor if the instructions are in a form and manner acceptable to the Custodian. If the Custodian determines the instructions from the Depositor are unclear or incomplete, the Custodian may request additional instructions. Until clear instructions are received, the Custodian reserves the right, in good faith, to leave the contribution uninvested, place the contribution in a holding account (e.g., a money market account), or return the contribution to the Depositor. The Custodian will not be liable for any investment losses due to such delays in receiving clear investment instructions. Further, the Depositor will indemnify and hold the Custodian harmless for any adverse consequences or losses incurred from the Custodian's actions or inactions relating to the investment directions received from the Depositor or Authorized Agent.

The Depositor will not engage in transactions not permitted under the Agreement, including, but not limited to, the investment in collectibles or life insurance contracts, or engage in a prohibited transaction under Code section 4975.

- 4. Beneficiary Designation. The Depositor has the right to designate any person(s) or entity(ies) as primary and contingent beneficiaries by completing a written designation in a form and manner acceptable to the Custodian filed with the Custodian during the Depositor's lifetime. If the Custodian and applicable laws and regulations so permit, this right also extends to the Depositor's designated beneficiary(ies) following the Depositor's death. Any successor beneficiary so named will be entitled to the proceeds of the Custodial Account if the beneficiary dies before receiving his or her entire interest in the decedent's IRA. A designation of successor beneficiaries submitted by the Depositor's beneficiary must be in writing in a form and manner acceptable to the Custodian filed with the Custodian during the lifetime of the Depositor's beneficiary.

If the Depositor is married and subject to the marital or community property laws that require the consent of the Depositor's spouse to name a beneficiary other than or in addition to such spouse, the Depositor understands that he or she is responsible for any and all tax and legal ramifications and he or she should consult a competent tax and/or legal advisor before making such designation.

Upon the Depositor's death, the Custodial Account will be paid to the surviving primary beneficiaries in equal shares unless indicated otherwise in a form and manner acceptable to the Custodian. If no primary beneficiaries survive the Depositor, the Custodial Account will be paid to surviving contingent beneficiaries in equal shares unless indicated otherwise. If no primary or contingent beneficiaries survive the Depositor or if the Depositor fails to designate beneficiaries during his or her lifetime, the Custodial Account will be paid to the Depositor's estate following the Depositor's death.

No payment will be made to any beneficiary until the Custodian receives appropriate evidence of the Depositor's death as determined by the Custodian.

If a beneficiary is a minor, the Custodian is relieved of all of its obligations as Custodian by paying the Custodial Account to the minor's parent or legal guardian upon receiving written instructions from such parent or legal guardian.

The Depositor represents and warrants that all beneficiary designations meet the applicable laws. The Custodian will exercise good faith in distributing the Depositor's Custodial Account consistent with the beneficiary designation. The Depositor, for the Depositor and the heirs, beneficiaries and estate of the Depositor agrees to indemnify and hold the Custodian harmless against any and all claims, liabilities and expenses resulting from the Custodian's payment of the Custodial Account in accordance with such beneficiary designation and the terms of the Agreement.

- 5. Distributions. Distributions may be requested from the Custodial Account by delivering a request to the Custodian in a form and manner acceptable to the Custodian. The Custodian is not obligated to distribute the Custodial Account unless it is satisfied it has received the required information to perform its administrative and legal reporting obligations. Information the Custodian may require includes, but is not limited to, taxpayer identification number, distribution reason, and proof of identity.

The Custodian will send the Depositor a notice each year the Depositor is subject to the requirements of Article IV. Such notice will include the distribution deadline and will inform the Depositor of the RMD amount or provide guidance to the Depositor on how to contact the Custodian for assistance in determining the RMD amount. The Custodian reserves the right to determine each year the method of providing the RMD notice. The Custodian will not be liable for and the Depositor will indemnify and hold the Custodian harmless for any adverse consequences and/or penalties resulting from the Depositor's actions or inactions (including errors in calculations resulting from reliance on information provided by the Depositor) with respect to determining such required minimum distributions.

- 6. Amendments and Termination. The Custodian may amend this Agreement at any time to comply with legal and regulatory changes and to modify the Agreement as the Custodian determines advisable. Any such amendment will be sent to the Depositor at the last known address on file with the Custodian. The amendment will be effective on the date specified in the notice to the Depositor. At the Depositor's discretion, the Depositor may direct that the Custodial Account be transferred to another trustee or custodian. The Custodian will not be liable for any losses from any actions or inactions of any successor trustee or custodian.

The Depositor may terminate this Agreement at any time by providing a written notice of such termination to the Custodian in a form and manner acceptable to the Custodian. As of the date of the termination notice, the Custodian will no longer accept additional deposits under the Agreement.

Upon receiving a termination notice, the Custodian will continue to hold the assets and act upon the provisions within the Agreement until the Depositor provides additional instructions. If no instructions are provided by the Depositor to the Custodian within 30 days of the termination notice, and unless the Custodian and Depositor agree in writing otherwise, the Custodian will distribute the Custodial Account, less any applicable fees or penalties, as a single payment to the Depositor. The Custodian shall not be liable for any losses from any actions or inactions of any successor trustee or custodian.

The Custodian may resign at any time by providing 30 days written notice to the Depositor. Upon receiving such written notice, the Depositor will appoint a successor trustee or custodian in writing. Upon such appointment and upon receiving acknowledgement from the successor trustee or custodian of acceptance of the Custodial Account, the Custodian shall transfer the Custodial Account, less any applicable fees or penalties, to the successor trustee or custodian. If no successor trustee or custodian is appointed and no distribution instructions are provided by the Depositor, the Custodian may, in its own discretion, select a successor trustee or custodian and transfer the Custodial Account, less any applicable fees or penalties, or may distribute the Custodial Account, less any applicable fees or penalties, as a single payment to the Depositor. The Custodian shall not be liable for any losses from any actions or inactions of any successor trustee or custodian.

By establishing an individual retirement account with the Custodian, the Depositor agrees to substitute another custodian or trustee in place of the existing Custodian upon notification by the Commissioner of the Internal Revenue Service or his or her delegate, that such substitution is required because the Custodian has failed to comply with the requirements of the Internal Revenue Code by not keeping such records, or making such returns or rendering such statements as are required by the Internal Revenue Code, or otherwise.

- 7. Instructions, Changes of Addresses and Notices. The Depositor is responsible to provide any instructions, notices or changes of address in writing to the Custodian. Such communications will be effective upon actual receipt by the Custodian unless otherwise indicated in writing by the Depositor. Any notices required to be sent to the Depositor by the Custodian will be sent to the last address on file with the Custodian and are effective when mailed unless otherwise indicated by the Custodian. If authorized by the Custodian and provided by the Depositor in the Application, Custodial Account Agreement or other documentation deemed acceptable to the Custodian, an electronic address is an acceptable address to provide and receive such communications.
- 8. Fees and Charges. The Custodian reserves the right to charge fees for performing its duties and meeting its obligations under this Agreement. All fees, which are subject to change from time to time, will be disclosed on the Custodian's fee schedule or other disclosure document provided by the Custodian. The Custodian will provide the Depositor 30 days written notice of any fee changes. The Custodian will collect all fees from the cash proceeds in the Custodial Account. If there is insufficient cash in the Custodial Account, the Custodian may liquidate investments, at its discretion, to satisfy fee obligations associated with the Agreement. Alternatively, if the Custodian so authorizes and if separate payment of fees or other expenses is permissible under applicable federal and/or state laws, the fees may be paid separately outside of the Custodial Account. If the Custodian offers investments other than depository products, the Depositor recognizes that the Custodian may receive compensation from other parties. The Depositor agrees to pay the Custodian a reasonable hourly charge for distribution from, transfers from, and terminations of this IRA. The Depositor agrees to pay any expenses incurred by the Custodian in the performance of its duties in connection with this Agreement. Such expenses include, but are not limited to, administrative expenses, such as legal and accounting fees, and any taxes of any kind that may be levied or assessed with respect to such Custodial Account. All such fees, taxes and other administrative expenses charged to the Custodial Account shall be collected either from the assets in the Custodial Account or from any contributions to or distributions from such Custodial Account if not paid by the Depositor. The Depositor shall be responsible for any deficiency. In the event that for any reason the Custodian is not certain as to who is entitled to receive all or part of the IRA, the Custodian reserves the right to withhold any payment from the IRA, to request a court ruling to determine the disposition of the IRA assets, and to charge the IRA for any expenses incurred in obtaining such legal determination.
- 9. Transfers and Rollovers. The Custodian will accept transfers and rollovers from other plans. The Depositor represents and warrants that only eligible transfers and rollovers will be made to the Custodial Account. The Custodian reserves the right to refuse any transfer or rollover and is under no obligation to accept certain investments or property it cannot legally hold or determines is an ineligible investment in the Custodial Account. The Custodian will duly act on written instructions from the Depositor received in a form and manner acceptable to the Custodian to transfer the Custodial Account to a successor trustee or custodian. The Custodian is not liable for any actions or inactions by any predecessor or successor trustee or custodian or for any investment losses resulting from the timing of or sale of assets resulting from the transfer or rollover.
- 10. Beneficiary's (and Inherited IRA Owner's) Rights. Except as otherwise provided in this Agreement or by applicable law or Regulations, all rights, duties, obligations and responsibilities of the Depositor under the Agreement will extend to spouse and nonspouse beneficiary(ies) following the death of the Depositor and to the Inherited IRA Owner who establishes the Traditional IRA as an Inherited IRA.

Except for eligible transfers of IRA assets acquired by reason of death of the same Depositor or a direct rollover described in Code section 402(c)(11) by an Inherited IRA Owner, beneficiary(ies)/Inherited IRA Owners are prohibited from contributing to the Custodial Account.

Following the death of the Depositor, spouse and nonspouse beneficiary(ies) must take beneficiary distributions in accordance with Article IV of this Agreement. Distributions from an Inherited IRA established under this Agreement are subject to the distribution rules applicable to nonspouse beneficiaries under Code section 401(a)(9)(B) (other than clause (iv)) and the Regulations.

The Custodian will not be liable for and the beneficiary(ies)/Inherited IRA Owner will indemnify and hold the Custodian harmless from any adverse consequences and/or penalties resulting from the beneficiary(ies)'s/Inherited IRA Owner's actions or inactions (including errors in calculations resulting from reliance on information provided by the beneficiary(ies)/Inherited IRA Owner) with respect to determining required distributions.

11. Miscellaneous.

Reliance and Responsibilities. The Depositor acknowledges that he or she has the sole responsibility for any taxes, penalties or other fees and expenses associated with his or her actions or inactions regarding the laws, Regulations and rules associated with this Agreement. Further, the Depositor acknowledges and understands that the Custodian will act solely as an agent for the Depositor and bears no fiduciary responsibility. The Custodian will rely on the information provided by the Depositor and has no duty to question or independently verify or investigate any such information. The Depositor will indemnify and hold the Custodian harmless from any liabilities, including claims, judgments, investment losses, and expenses (including attorney's fees), which may arise under this Agreement, except liability arising from gross negligence or willful misconduct of the Custodian.

Custodian Acquired/Merged. If the Custodian is purchased by or merged with another financial institution qualified to serve as a trustee or custodian that institution will automatically become the trustee or custodian of this IRA unless otherwise indicated.

Maintenance of Records. The Custodian will maintain adequate records and perform its reporting obligations required under the Agreement. The Custodian's sole duty to the Depositor regarding reporting is to furnish the IRS mandated reports as required in Article V of this Agreement. The Custodian may, at its discretion, furnish additional reports or information to the Depositor. The Depositor approves any report furnished by the Custodian, unless within 30 days of receiving the report, the Depositor notifies the Custodian in writing of any discrepancies. Upon receipt of such notice, the Custodian's responsibility is to investigate the request and make any corrections or adjustments accordingly.

Exclusive Benefit. The Custodial Account is maintained for the exclusive benefit of the Depositor and his or her beneficiary(ies). Except as required by law, no creditors of the Depositor may at any time execute any lien, levy, assignment, attachment or garnishment on any of the assets in the Custodial Account.

Minimum Value. The Custodian reserves the right to establish IRA account minimums. The Custodian may resign or charge additional fees if the minimums are not met.

Other Providers. At its discretion, the Custodian may appoint other service providers to fulfill certain obligations, including reporting responsibilities, and may compensate such service providers accordingly.

Agreement. This Agreement and all amendments are subject to all state and federal laws. The laws of the Custodian's domicile will govern should any state law interpretations be necessary concerning this Agreement.

Severability. If any part of this Agreement is invalid or in conflict with applicable law or Regulations, the remaining portions of the Agreement will remain valid.

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS

Section references are to the Internal Revenue Code unless otherwise noted.

Purpose of Form. Form 5305-A is a model Custodial Account Agreement that meets the requirements of section 408(a). However, only Articles I through VII have been reviewed by the IRS. A Traditional individual retirement account (Traditional IRA) is established after the form is fully executed by both the individual (Depositor) and the Custodian. To make a regular contribution to a Traditional IRA for a year, the IRA must be established no later than the due date of the individual's income tax return for the tax year (excluding extensions). This account must be created in the United States for the exclusive benefit of the Depositor and his or her beneficiaries.

Do not file Form 5305-A with the IRS. Instead, keep it with your records. For more information on IRAs including the required disclosures the Custodian must give the Depositor, see Pub. 590-A, Contributions to Individual Retirement Arrangements (IRAs) and Pub. 590-B, Distributions from Individual Retirement Arrangements (IRAs).

Traditional IRA for Nonworking Spouse. Form 5305-A may be used to establish the IRA Custodial Account for a nonworking spouse. Contributions to an IRA Custodial Account for a nonworking spouse must be made to a separate IRA Custodial Account established by the nonworking spouse.

SPECIFIC INSTRUCTIONS

Article IV. Distributions made under this article may be made in a single sum, periodic payment, or a combination of both. The distribution option should be reviewed in the year the Depositor reaches age 70½ to ensure that the requirements of section 408(a)(6) have been met.

Article VIII. Article VIII and any that follow it may incorporate additional provisions that are agreed to by the Depositor and Custodian to complete the Agreement. They may include, for example, definitions, investment powers, voting rights, exculpatory provisions, amendment and termination, removal of the Custodian, Custodian's fees, state law requirements, beginning date of distributions, accepting only cash, treatment of excess contributions, prohibited transactions with the Depositor, etc.

TRADITIONAL IRA DISCLOSURE STATEMENT

(Used with Form 5305-A)

This Disclosure Statement provides a general review of the terms, conditions and federal laws associated with this Traditional IRA (IRA). It is not intended to replace the advice of your own tax and legal advisors. You are encouraged to consult your advisors and/or your state taxing authority concerning any tax and/or compliance questions. You are responsible for complying with the laws that apply to this IRA. The Custodian does not act as your advisor. In addition to the transactions outlined in this Traditional IRA Disclosure Statement, the federal government may authorize permissible transactions from time to time. Unless expressly prohibited by the Custodian's policies, such additional federally authorized transactions are hereby incorporated by this reference. If this IRA is established as an Inherited IRA, refer to the "Inherited IRA" section of this document for restrictions and limitations.

RIGHT TO REVOKE YOUR IRA

As prescribed by the Code and Regulations, this IRA may be revoked within seven (7) calendar days following the date the IRA is established. Unless indicated otherwise, the IRA is established on the date the Custodian signs the Application. To revoke this IRA, you must provide a written notice to the Custodian at the address listed on the Application (or other address provided to you by the Custodian) that accompanies this Disclosure. The Custodian must receive your revocation notice no later than 7 days after the IRA is established. If your revocation notice is mailed, it will be deemed received as of the postmark date. If you revoke the IRA within the 7-day revocation period, the Custodian is still required to report the contribution and the distribution to the IRS. If you revoke the IRA within the revocation period, the Custodian will return to you the entire amount you contributed without deducting any administrative fees, penalties or investment losses.

CONTRIBUTIONS

Cash. Except for certain rollovers and transfers, all contributions must be made in the form of money (e.g., cash, check or money order).

Eligibility. You may set up and contribute to your IRA if you (or, if you file a joint federal income tax return, your spouse) received compensation during the year, and you did not reach age 70½ by the end of the year. No contributions may be made to your IRA for the year you reach age 70½ or for subsequent years. You are responsible for determining your eligibility to make IRA contributions.

Compensation. For purposes of funding an IRA, "compensation" generally means monies earned from working, such as wages, salaries, tips, professional fees, bonuses and other amounts received from providing personal services. If you are self-employed, your compensation is your "earned income." Taxable alimony received under a valid divorce decree, separate maintenance agreement, or other valid court order is considered compensation. Nontaxable combat zone pay received by members of the armed forces is generally considered compensation. Compensation for purposes of making IRA contributions includes differential wage payments made by some employers to employees who have been called to active duty. Compensation does not include investment earnings, pension or annuity income or other amounts you receive for which your services are not a material income-producing factor.

Due Date. Contributions may be made to your IRA during the tax year and up until the due date for filing your tax return, not including extensions. For most people, the tax return due date is April 15. However, if you are serving in or in support of the armed forces in a designated combat zone or qualified hazardous duty area, your contribution deadline may be extended past April 15. Generally, the extension is 180 days after the last day you are in a qualifying combat zone or hazardous duty area. You may also have an additional extension depending on when you entered the zone or area. For additional information, refer to IRS Publication 3 or consult your tax advisor.

Carryback Contributions. If you make a contribution between January 1 and April 15, tell the Custodian which tax year the contribution is for. If you do not indicate otherwise, the Custodian will report it to the IRS as a current year contribution (the year received).

Contributions to Multiple IRAs. If you have more than one Traditional IRA, the contribution limits listed below apply to the total amount you may contribute to all of your IRAs for the year. If you also have a Roth IRA, the contribution limits listed below are reduced by any amounts you contribute to your Roth IRA for the tax year. In addition, employer retirement plans may establish separate accounts to receive voluntary employee contributions. If the account meets the requirements of an IRA and you make voluntary employee contributions to that separate account, the total amount listed below that you may contribute to all of your IRAs is reduced by those voluntary employee contributions.

Contribution Limits. Your annual contribution amount may not exceed $5,500 (for tax year 2017 and 2018) with possible cost-of-living adjustments each year thereafter. For each year in which you are age 50 or older before the end of the calendar year, you may make an additional catch-up contribution of up to $1,000. Your total contribution amount (including catch-up, if applicable) may not, however, exceed an amount equal to your compensation for that tax year unless you are married and filing a joint federal income tax return. If you are married, filing a joint tax return, the total amount you and your spouse may contribute to IRAs in aggregate for any tax year (including catch-up contributions, if applicable) may not exceed the combined compensation of you and your spouse for that same tax year.

Simplified Employee Pension (SEP) Plan. If you participate in your employer's SEP plan, your employer may make SEP contributions to your IRA. You may still contribute to your IRA. However, when your employer makes SEP contributions on your behalf, you are considered covered by an employer retirement plan. Therefore, your ability to deduct your IRA contributions may be limited depending on your modified adjusted gross income (MAGI).

Repayments of Qualified Reservist Distributions. You may repay “qualified reservist distributions” by making one or more contributions to your IRA within two years of the end of your active duty. The aggregate amount that may be repaid may not exceed the amounts of such distributions and is in addition to other eligible contribution amounts. No tax deduction is allowed for these contributions. For more information, consult your tax advisor.

Rollovers. Generally, a rollover is a movement of cash or assets from one retirement plan to another. Both the distribution and the rollover contribution are reportable when you file your income taxes, however, if you roll over the entire amount of an IRA or retirement plan distribution (including any amount withheld for federal, state, or other income taxes that you did not receive), you generally do not have to report the distribution as taxable income. If you are required to take minimum distributions because you are age 70½ or older, you may not roll over any required minimum distributions. You must irrevocably elect to treat such contributions as rollovers.

You may use your IRA as a conduit to temporarily hold amounts you receive in an eligible rollover distribution from an employer's retirement plan. Should you combine or add other amounts (e.g., regular contributions) to your conduit IRA, you may lose the ability to subsequently roll these funds into another employer plan to take advantage of special tax rules available for certain qualified plan distribution amounts. Consult your tax advisor for additional information.

Traditional IRA-to-Traditional IRA Rollover. You may withdraw, tax free, all or a portion of your Traditional IRA if you contribute the amount withdrawn into the same or another Traditional IRA as a rollover. When completing a rollover from a Traditional IRA to a Traditional IRA, you must generally complete the rollover transaction within 60 days from the date you receive the distribution from the distributing Traditional IRA. Only one IRA distribution within any 12-month period may be rolled over in an IRA-to-IRA rollover transaction. The 12-month waiting period begins on the date you receive an IRA distribution that you subsequently roll over, not the date you complete the rollover transaction.

Traditional IRA-to-SIMPLE IRA Rollover. An amount distributed from your Traditional IRA may be rolled over to your SIMPLE IRA only after at least two years have elapsed from the date on which you first participated in any SIMPLE IRA Plan maintained by the employer. When completing a rollover from a Traditional IRA to a SIMPLE IRA, you must generally complete the rollover transaction within 60 days from the date you receive the distribution from your Traditional IRA. Only one IRA distribution within any 12-month period may be rolled over in an IRA-to-IRA rollover transaction. The 12-month waiting period begins on the date you receive an IRA distribution that you subsequently roll over, not the date you complete the rollover transaction.

Traditional IRA-to-Employer Retirement Plan Rollover. If your employer's retirement plan accepts rollovers from IRAs, you may complete a direct or indirect rollover of your pre-tax assets in your Traditional IRA into your employer retirement plan. If you take constructive receipt of a distribution from your Traditional IRA to complete a rollover to an employer plan (i.e., an indirect rollover), you must generally complete the rollover transaction within 60 days from the date you receive the distribution.

SIMPLE IRA-to-Traditional IRA Rollover. To complete a rollover of a SIMPLE IRA distribution to a Traditional IRA, at least two years must have elapsed from the date on which you first participated in any SIMPLE IRA Plan maintained by the employer, and you must generally contribute the distribution within 60 days from the date you receive it. Only one IRA distribution within any 12-month period may be rolled over in an IRA-to-IRA rollover transaction. The 12-month waiting period begins on the date you receive an IRA distribution that you subsequently roll over, not the date you complete the rollover transaction.

Employer Retirement Plan-to-Traditional IRA Rollover (by Traditional IRA Owner). Eligible rollover distributions from qualifying employer retirement plans may be rolled over, directly or indirectly, to your Traditional IRA. Qualifying employer retirement plans include qualified plans (e.g., 401(k) plans or profit sharing plans), governmental 457(b) plans, 403(b) arrangements and 403(a) arrangements. Amounts that may not be rolled over to your Traditional IRA include any required minimum distributions, hardship distributions, any part of a series of substantially equal periodic payments, or distributions consisting of designated Roth contributions (and earnings thereon) from a 401(k), 403(b), or 457(b) plan.

To complete a direct rollover from an employer plan to your Traditional IRA, you must generally instruct the plan administrator to send the distribution to your Traditional IRA Custodian. To complete an indirect rollover, you must generally request that the plan administrator make a distribution directly to you. You typically have 60 days from the date you receive an eligible rollover distribution to complete an indirect rollover. Any amount not properly rolled over within the 60-day period will generally be taxable in the year distributed (except for any amount that represents after-tax contributions) and may be, if you are under age 59½, subject to the premature distribution penalty tax. If you choose the indirect rollover method, the plan administrator is typically required to withhold 20% of the eligible rollover distribution amount for purposes of federal income tax withholding. You may, however, make up the withheld amount out of pocket and roll over the full amount. If you do not make up the withheld amount out of pocket, the 20% withheld (and not rolled over) will be treated as a distribution, subject to applicable taxes and penalties.

Employer Retirement Plan-to-Traditional IRA Rollover (by Inherited IRA Owner). Please refer to the section of this document entitled “Inherited IRA”.

Rollover of Exxon Valdez Settlement Income. Certain income received as an Exxon Valdez qualified settlement may be rolled over to a Traditional IRA or another eligible retirement plan. The amount contributed cannot exceed the lesser of $100,000 (reduced by the amount of any qualified settlement income contributed to an eligible retirement plan in prior tax years) or the amount of qualified settlement income received during the tax year. Contributions for the year can be made until the due date for filing your return, not including extensions.

Conversion of Traditional IRA to Roth IRA. Generally, you may convert all or a portion of your Traditional IRA to a Roth IRA provided you meet any applicable eligibility requirements as defined in the Code and Regulations. Except for amounts that represent basis, amounts converted are generally treated as taxable distributions. However, the premature distribution penalty that typically applies to taxable withdrawals taken prior to age 59½, does not apply to amounts converted from a Traditional IRA to a Roth IRA. Required minimum distributions may not be converted. Traditional IRA-to-Roth IRA conversions are not subject to the 12-month rollover restriction that typically applies to rollovers between IRAs.

RECHARACTERIZATIONS

Recharacterize a Contribution. You may "recharacterize" a contribution made to one type of IRA (either Traditional or Roth IRA) and treat it as if it was made to a different type of IRA (Traditional or Roth IRA). Both the contribution amount along with the net income attributable to the contribution must be transferred. If there was a loss, the amount of any loss will reduce the amount you transfer. The deadline for completing a recharacterization is your tax return due date (including any extensions) for the year for which the contribution was made to the first IRA. Recharacterization requests must be made in a form and manner acceptable to the Custodian. Report recharacterizations to the IRS by attaching a statement to your Form 1040. You may also need to file Form 8606.

TRANSFERS

Transfers. You may move your IRA from one trustee or custodian to an IRA maintained by another trustee or custodian by requesting a direct transfer. Federal law does not limit the number of transfers you may make during any year.

Transfers Incident to Divorce. Under a valid divorce decree, separate maintenance decree, or other valid court order, your IRA may be transferred to your ex-spouse or you may receive all or part of your ex-spouse's IRA.

TAX TREATMENT OF IRA CONTRIBUTIONS

Deductions. Whether your IRA contributions are tax deductible depends on whether you and/or your spouse (if you are married) are considered covered by an employer retirement plan and the amount of your modified adjusted gross income (MAGI).

Covered by an Employer Retirement Plan. You are generally considered covered by an employer retirement plan if a contribution is made to your account or you are eligible to earn retirement credits. Examples of retirement plans include simplified employee pension (SEP) plans, SIMPLE plans, plans qualified under Code section 401(a) such as pension, profit sharing or 401(k) plans, 403(b) arrangements, 403(a) arrangements, or certain government plans. Generally, your employer is required to indicate on your Form W-2 if you were covered by a retirement plan for the year. If you (and/or your spouse, if you are married) are covered by an employer retirement plan, you may not be able to deduct some or all of your IRA contribution depending on your MAGI.

If your MAGI is equal to or below the lower limit of the phase-out range, your IRA contributions are fully deductible. If your MAGI is equal to or exceeds the upper limit of the phase-out range, your IRA contributions are not deductible. If your MAGI falls within the phase-out range, you may take a partial deduction. The MAGI thresholds (for 2017 and 2018) are summarized in the chart below for individuals covered by an employer retirement plan, and are either married and filing a joint federal income tax return, or is a single filer.

MAGI Thresholds for Deduction Phase-Out

Year	Married Filing Jointly*	Single Taxpayers
2018	$101,000-$121,000	$63,000-$73,000
2017	$99,000-$119,000	$62,000-$72,000

* If you are married and filing a joint federal income tax return, your MAGI is the combined MAGI of you and your spouse.

For tax years after 2018, the MAGI thresholds for deduction phase-out listed above will be increased to reflect a cost-of-living adjustment, if any.

If you are married, filing a separate federal income tax return, and are covered by an employer retirement plan, your MAGI threshold is $0-$10,000. However, if you did not live with your spouse at any time during the year and you file a separate return, your filing status, for purposes of determining your IRA tax deduction, is single.

For more information on determining your MAGI and your IRA deduction, consult your tax advisor, instructions to Form 1040 and/or IRS Publication 590-A.

Not Covered by an Employer Retirement Plan. If you are single and are not considered covered by an employer retirement plan, or if you are married and neither you nor your spouse are considered covered by an employer retirement plan, your IRA contributions are fully tax-deductible, regardless of your MAGI or your tax filing status.

If you are married, filing jointly, and you are not covered by an employer retirement plan but your spouse is covered, the combined MAGI threshold for determining the deductible amount of your Traditional IRA contribution is $186,000-$196,000 for 2017, and $189,000-$199,000 for 2018. For tax years after 2018, this MAGI threshold will be increased to reflect a cost-of-living adjustment, if any.

If you are married (and lived with your spouse at any time during the year), filing separate returns, and you are not covered by an employer retirement plan but your spouse is covered, your MAGI threshold for determining the deductible amount of your Traditional IRA contribution is $0-$10,000.

Nondeductible Contributions. Regardless of whether your IRA contribution is deductible, you may contribute to your IRA up to the allowable limits. The difference between your total permitted contributions and your IRA deduction, if any, is your nondeductible contribution. Earnings derived from nondeductible contributions are not taxed until distributed. If you make nondeductible IRA contributions, a cost basis is created in your IRA equal to the sum of your nondeductible contributions minus any withdrawals or distributions of nondeductible contributions. Report your nondeductible contributions on IRS Form 8606. If you fail to report your nondeductible contributions, or if you overstate your nondeductible contributions, you may be subject to taxes and penalties.

Tax Credits for Contributions. You may be eligible for a tax credit for your Traditional IRA contribution. The maximum annual tax credit is $1,000 and, if you are eligible, the credit will reduce your federal income tax you owe dollar for dollar. You may be eligible for the tax credit if you are age 18 or older, not a dependent of another taxpayer, and not a full-time student.

DISTRIBUTIONS DURING YOUR LIFETIME

You may withdraw any or all of your IRA balance at any time. However, certain taxes and penalties may apply.

Tax Treatment. In general, distributions from your IRA are taxed as ordinary income in the year in which they are distributed. If you have made nondeductible contributions to any of your Traditional IRAs, a portion of each distribution is nontaxable. The nontaxable amount is the pro rata portion of the distribution that represents your remaining nondeductible contributions based upon the value of all your IRAs. For assistance in determining the nontaxable portion, consult your tax advisor, instructions to IRS Forms 1040 and 8606, and IRS Publication 590-B.

Distributions Before Age 59½. Generally, if you are under age 59½ and take a distribution, the amount is referred to as an "early or premature distribution." Premature distributions that are includible in gross income are also subject to a 10% IRS penalty tax. However, certain exceptions apply to the premature distribution penalty. These are summarized below.

1. You have unreimbursed medical expenses that are more than the applicable percentage of your adjusted gross income and provided certain conditions apply.
2. The distribution is to pay your medical insurance premiums if you are unemployed and receive federal or state unemployment benefits for 12 consecutive weeks, or would have if not self-employed, and you receive the distribution during that or the succeeding tax year.
3. A physician certifies that you are disabled as defined by the Code.
4. You are receiving substantially equal periodic payments consistent with the Code and Regulations.
5. The distributions are not more than the qualified higher education expenses of you, your spouse, or the children or grandchildren of you or your spouse.
6. The distribution, of up to a $10,000 lifetime limit, is used within 120 days of withdrawal to buy or build a home that will be a principal residence for a qualified first-time homebuyer.
7. The distribution is due to an IRS levy on the IRA.
8. The distribution is a "qualified reservist distribution" as defined by the Code.
9. The distribution is properly rolled over or directly transferred to an eligible employer plan or another IRA.
10. The distribution is a proper return of a certain excess contribution.

Reporting Premature Distribution Penalty Tax. You may have to report the 10% IRS early distribution penalty tax by filing a completed Form 5329 with the IRS along with your payment.

Distributions After Age 59½ and Before the Year You Reach Age 70½. Once you reach age 59½ but before the year you reach age 70½ distributions from your IRA are optional. Any amounts you withdraw and keep during this period will generally be subject to ordinary income tax.

Required Distributions At Age 70½. You must begin taking distributions from your IRA no later than April 1 following the year you reach age 70½. Subsequent distributions must be taken by December 31 each year after you reach age 70½. Generally, each year determine your RMD by taking your IRA balance as of December 31 of the prior year and dividing it by a distribution period (determined by the applicable IRS life expectancy table). Each year you are subject to the RMD requirements, your Custodian will provide you with a notice. Along with the distribution deadline, the notice will either inform you of your RMD amount or provide you with guidance on how to contact the Custodian for assistance in determining your RMD. Your Custodian is also required to notify the IRS each year you are required to take an RMD.

If you have more than one IRA, determine the RMD separately for each IRA. However, you may total the RMDs and take the total from any one or more of your IRAs.

If you do not take the required minimum distribution (RMD) or the distribution is not large enough, you may be subject to a 50% excess accumulation penalty tax on the amount not distributed as required. You must report the 50% excess accumulation penalty tax by filing a completed Form 5329 with the IRS along with your payment.

For additional information regarding your RMD, consult your tax advisor and/or IRS Publication 590-B.

Special Tax Treatment. IRA distributions are not eligible for capital gains treatment or lump-sum income averaging.

Qualified Charitable Distributions. If you are age 70½ or older, you may be eligible to make a "qualified charitable distribution" from your Traditional IRA. A qualified charitable distribution is not subject to federal income tax and no tax deduction is allowed for the charitable contribution. Special tax rules may apply. The maximum qualified charitable distribution amount (in aggregate) per individual is $100,000 for 2017. Adjustments to this amount for later years may be authorized by the federal government. For further detailed information you may wish to obtain IRS Publication 590-B, Distributions from Individual Retirement Arrangements (IRAs), from the IRS. For assistance in determining whether you are eligible to make a qualified charitable distribution from your IRA, consult your tax advisor.

Qualified Health Savings Account (HSA) Funding Distribution. If you are an HSA eligible individual, you may be eligible to do a tax-free transfer of IRA assets to your HSA. This transfer, which is referred to as a qualified HSA funding distribution, is subject to HSA contribution limits. You must irrevocably elect to treat such distribution as a qualified HSA funding distribution. Generally, you are limited to one qualified HSA funding distribution from any of your Traditional or Roth IRAs during your lifetime. For assistance in determining to what extent you may be eligible to make a qualified HSA funding distribution, consult your tax advisor.

DISTRIBUTIONS TO YOUR BENEFICIARIES WHEN YOU DIE

Any amounts remaining in your IRA at your death will be paid to your beneficiary(ies). When you die, the rules determining the distribution of your IRA balance depend on a number of factors. These include whether you had a "designated beneficiary," your relationship to the beneficiary (spouse or nonspouse) and whether you died before or after RMDs were required to begin.

Designated Beneficiary. A "designated beneficiary" is determined based on the beneficiary(ies) designated as of the date of your death and who remains your beneficiary(ies) on September 30th of the calendar year following the calendar year of your death.

If You Die Before RMDs Are Required To Begin. Generally, if you die before April 1 following the year you reach age 70½ and your designated beneficiary(ies) is an individual, he or she may elect a distribution method. Your beneficiary(ies) may elect to deplete the IRA by the end of the fifth calendar year following your death or to receive payments based on the designated beneficiary(ies)'s life expectancy. If life expectancy payments are elected, the payments must begin by December 31 of the first calendar year following your death. However, if your surviving spouse is your sole designated beneficiary, he or she may delay the first distribution until December 31 of the year you would have attained age 70½, if later.

If your designated beneficiary is not an individual or a qualified trust (e.g., a charity, your estate, etc.), your IRA must be distributed by the end of the fifth calendar year following your death.

Generally, each beneficiary may elect the timing and manner regarding the distribution of his or her portion of the IRA. Elections must generally be made by December 31 of the year following your death. If timely elections are not made, your beneficiary is required to take distributions according to the applicable default provision. The default distribution option for designated beneficiaries who are individuals is the life expectancy option and the default distribution option for designated beneficiaries that are not individuals is the 5-year method. If your beneficiary(ies) does not withdraw the required amount within the prescribed time frame, he or she may be subject to the 50% excess accumulation penalty tax on the amount that should have been withdrawn but was not distributed.

If your surviving spouse is the sole designated beneficiary of your IRA, he or she may treat your IRA as his or her own IRA by redesignating your IRA as his or her own IRA, failing to take a required distribution as a beneficiary, or by making a contribution. Regardless of whether your spouse is the sole designated beneficiary, he or she may roll distributions from your IRA into his or her own IRA generally within 60 days of receipt. Additional restrictions may apply.

If You Die On or After RMDs Are Required to Begin. If you die on or after April 1 following the year you attain age 70½, the designated beneficiary(ies) must continue taking distributions from your IRA. The longest time frame for receiving payouts is over the remaining life expectancy of the applicable designated beneficiary or based on your remaining life expectancy factor, had you not died, whichever period is longer. Distributions must commence by December 31 of the calendar year following your death. If your designated beneficiary is not an individual or a qualified trust (e.g., a charity, your estate, etc.), your IRA must be distributed using your single life expectancy (had you not died) reduced by one each year. Your beneficiary(ies) must withdraw your RMD for the year of your death, if you do not withdraw it before your death.

If your surviving spouse is the sole designated beneficiary of your IRA, he or she may treat your IRA as his or her own IRA by redesignating your IRA as his or her own IRA, failing to take a required distribution as a beneficiary, or by making a contribution. Regardless of whether your spouse is the sole designated beneficiary, he or she may roll distributions from your IRA into his or her own IRA generally within 60 days of receipt. Additional restrictions may apply.

WITHHOLDING

Distributions from your IRA, except certain transfers or any recharacterization, are subject to 10% federal income tax withholding. You may elect in writing not to have withholding apply to your IRA distribution in most cases. If you elect not to have withholding applied, or if you do not have enough federal income tax withheld from your IRA distribution, you may be responsible for payment of estimated tax. You may be subject to penalties under the estimated tax rules if your withholding and estimated tax payments are not sufficient. In addition to federal income tax withholding, distributions from IRAs may also be subject to state income tax withholding.

CORRECTION OF EXCESS CONTRIBUTIONS

Any amount you contribute for a tax year that exceeds the allowable contribution amount is an excess contribution and subject to a 6% penalty tax each year it remains in the IRA. You may avoid the penalty tax if you remove the excess contribution along with the net income attributable to the excess before your tax return due date, plus extensions. For assistance in calculating the net income attributable to an excess contribution using an IRS-approved method, refer to Treasury Regulation 1.408-11, IRS Publication 590-A and your tax advisor. The net income must be included in your taxable income. If you are under age 59½ and do not qualify for an exception, the net income is also subject to the IRS 10% premature distribution penalty. File IRS Form 5329 to pay any penalty taxes.

To correct an excess contribution after your tax filing due date (plus extensions), you may withdraw the excess amount (no earnings need to be withdrawn.) Alternatively, if you are eligible to contribute in a subsequent year, you may correct the excess amount by redesignating the amount to a subsequent year. To redesignate a contribution, you under contribute in a subsequent year and claim the original contribution amount when you file your income taxes for that subsequent year. The original amount is either deducted on Form 1040 or claimed as a nondeductible contribution on Form 8606. Regardless of which method you use to correct the excess after your tax return due date, plus extensions, the 6% penalty is required for each year it remained in the IRA.

PROHIBITED TRANSACTIONS

If you (or your beneficiary(ies) when you die) engage in a "prohibited transaction" with your IRA, the entire IRA will be disqualified and treated as a distribution. If you are under age 59½, the 10% premature distribution penalty tax may apply. Prohibited transactions are defined in Code section 4975. Examples include borrowing money from the IRA, selling property to the IRA, receiving unreasonable compensation for managing the IRA, or buying property with IRA funds for your personal use.

USING YOUR IRA AS SECURITY FOR A LOAN

If you (or your beneficiary(ies) when you die) pledge all or part of your IRA as security for a loan, the amount pledged is treated as a distribution. If you are under age 59½, the amount pledged may also be subject to the 10% premature distribution penalty tax.

INHERITED IRA

Contributions to Inherited IRAs. Eligible rollover distributions from a deceased participant's qualifying employer retirement plan(s) may be directly rolled over by a nonspouse beneficiary to an Inherited IRA. Rollovers to an Inherited IRA must be sent directly from the plan administrator to the Inherited IRA Custodian. Qualifying employer retirement plans include qualified plans (e.g., 401(k) plans or profit sharing plans), governmental 457(b) plans, 403(b) arrangements and 403(a) arrangements. Amounts that may not be rolled over include any required minimum distributions.

Except for employer retirement plan to Inherited IRA rollovers, Inherited IRA to Inherited IRA transfers and certain recharacterized contributions from Inherited Roth IRAs, no other contribution types are allowed to be contributed to the Inherited IRA, unless defined as allowable under the Code or Regulations.

Distributions to Inherited IRA Owners. Beneficiary payouts from Inherited IRAs must continue as required by the Code and Regulations.

MISCELLANEOUS

Disaster Relief. If you are affected by certain federally-declared disasters, you may be eligible for special rules involving certain IRA transactions. Special rules may include, but are not limited to, penalty-free distributions, the ability to repay/rollover certain IRA or retirement plan distributions, the option to include distributions ratably over multiple years, and extensions for the completion of time-sensitive acts (e.g., IRA contributions, rollovers, recharacterizations or correction of certain excess contributions). For detailed information about special IRA rules related to specific federally-declared disasters, refer to IRS Publication 590-A, IRS Publication 590-B and the IRS website at www.irs.gov.

Nonforfeitable. Your interest in your IRA is nonforfeitable at all times.

Custodian. The Custodian of your IRA must be a bank, a federally insured credit union, a savings and loan association, or an entity approved by the IRS to act as custodian.

Investment Restrictions. Money in your IRA may not be used to buy a life insurance policy or invested in collectibles as defined in Code section 408(m). However, certain gold, silver and platinum coins, bullion and coins issued under state laws are allowable investments.

No Commingling. Assets in your IRA may not be combined with other property, except in a common trust fund or common investment fund.

Beneficiary Designation. You may designate a beneficiary for your IRA by completing a written designation in a form and manner acceptable to the Custodian. When you die, the proceeds of your IRA will be paid to your designated beneficiary(ies). If you do not designate a beneficiary, your IRA will be paid to your estate when you die.

Tax-Deferred Earnings. The earnings on your IRA balance accumulate tax-deferred meaning they are not taxable until distributed from your IRA.

Estate Tax. Generally, for federal estate tax purposes, your IRA assets are includable in your gross estate when you die. Consult your tax and/or legal advisors for specific guidance.

Tax Filing. You are responsible for filing the applicable IRS forms to report certain activities, taxable income and/or penalties associated with your IRA.

IRS Form. This IRA uses the precise language of Articles I-VII of IRS Form 5305-A, and therefore Article I-VII are treated as approved by the IRS. Additional language has been included as permitted by such form. The IRS approval represents a determination as to form and not to the merits of the account.

Additional Information. Additional information about the rules and options regarding your IRA may be found in IRS Publication 590-A, Publication 590-B, the instructions to the IRS forms and on the IRS website at www.irs.gov.
